I have many good & useful books at my disposal which will be of great value to you. I have some very interesting books on the subject of the early English history with other old prints of great value. Please send me a list.

With regards to your mother who I hope you receive in good health & may long live to the age of many years & to see her dear son again.

The winter time is an excellent time to make reading an art, and you cannot better than this time do this. I hope you will find it easier than any other time as the evenings are long & the days often very short, so that you have a great deal more of time to devote to all these studies. I hope the winter to come by some time has arrived & commences with an added quietness after all that the summer has been so busy with the garden etc.

With regards to your son, when you write again tell them you cannot yet bring him up to the winter.

As regards the books you may have sent me, I have not yet had time to look at them in full as you will have a messenger boy to get up with it. I will do that as soon as possible. But the first few days are probably best left for you to go over them yourself if you like.

I am sending a list of the books now in my possession which I think will be of great value to you, and will be very glad to hear from you again, and to know what you think of the books, and if you would like to have any of them.

With regards to the books you have sent me, I will be very glad to have them back again as soon as possible.
